Creating a safe space to drive change together

As we expand and develop, the extended team wanted to give a face to EQUIP, and stand out from the crowded space of NHS initiatives that don't stand the test of time. They wanted to show anyone who is interested in joining EQUIP, or in using its services, that we are a diverse group of people from all walks of life, and from a range of professions. Rather than write paragraphs using fancy words (though to be fair I love writing paragraphs using fancy words), they wanted to give what we do a human touch., with a video. We try to connect in a way that is personal, relatable and inspiring, all coming together to improve the health service.

I won't lie. I cried when I watched this. And you might not, but we hope it gives you a warm 2 minutes.
